

Omer Avital, Aaron Goldberg and Marc Miralta set up this trio without leader in whom each one gives its part without trying to be the centre of attention. The different cultural roots of the musicians give as a result a very rich music, with influences of flamenco, Arab music and purest American jazz style. About to release the album which they will record together with the saxophonist Mark Turner, the trio is in their best moment looking forward to spread around his intense and creative live that shows their indisputable personality.

Omer Avital, double bass.

Aaron Goldberg, piano.

Marc Miralta, drums.
